

JUVENILE COURT BILL OFFERED

McShane Measure Proposes to Require Such Courts in Second Class Cities

(Special Dispatch)
SALT LAKE, Feb. 5.—Representative McShane introduced a bill in the house this afternoon requiring that all first-class cities must have juvenile courts, but that it is optional in cities of the second class, such as Ogden.
His bill provides, however, that in cities where there are no established juvenile courts the city or district courts may function as juvenile courts.
One provision of his bill calls for detention wards in jails for juveniles where, if occasion warrants, juveniles may be given jail sentences not to exceed ten days.
The house spent considerable time debating senate bill No. 7, relating to the establishment of a real estate board but no definite action was taken on the bill.
Representative Imlay gave notice he would introduce a "truth in fabric" bill, modeled after the national measure calling for the labeling of material so buyers can learn whether they are obtaining wool or shoddy.
The senate committee on public affairs considered the measure relating to picketing by labor unions and was inclined to consider the bill unfavorable but will hold a public hearing in the event a request is made for such hearing.
The committee handling the wide tire bill decided to report the measure favorably with an amendment to the effect that the law go into effect May 1, 1937.
The educational committee will report favorably on the bill to abolish the commission for the adult blind, also the bill to place public libraries under the state board of education, with an amendment excluding cities of the first class.

WARNING ISSUED; BE WARY WHEN STRANGERS CALL

Don't let anybody into your house unless you are sure of their identity and purpose.
That is the warning that was sounded today following the report of an incident at the home of a rather prominent citizen.
A man and woman came to this citizen's apartment and asked to be shown the place, explaining that they were looking for an apartment.
Despite the wife's protests that the apartment was not to be vacated they squeezed their way in. While the woman talked to the wife, the man went on a tour of inspection.
But the wife kept her head and rounded up the man, ordering him in firm tones to leave.
There was a large sum in diamonds in that home.
The police say: "Be careful of canvassers, inspectors and other callers. Let them show their credentials."
Bankers say: "If you have anything of such value that your home might be picked out for operation by crooks, put the valuables in a safe deposit box."

BE CAREFUL AGAIN.
CAPE TOWN, Feb. 5.—The H. C. L. is decreasing again in Africa. Women of the Fairhaven Work party have started a bakery, selling bread at lower-than-market prices. Their business is too big for them to handle it.

GOING TO SWEAR OFF SMOKING? EAT CANDY
Candy is a stimulant, but it is a beneficial one.

It is a splendid substitute for stimulants of an injurious nature. It counteracts that "let down" feeling which comes to those who "swear off."
Be sure to get pure, candy. We suggest Palace Candy Co. Chocolates. Try some!

Western Adventure Leads Reading Matter Favored By Doughboys.

COBLENZ, Feb. 5.—Tales of adventure in the American West are the favorite reading matter of the American forces in Germany and Zane Grey is the most popular author. Strangely enough, Julius Caesar runs a close second with the doughboys, who are very keen about translations of Caesar's Gallic Wars. This is due to the fact that the Rhine is built across the Rhine, which lifts Caesar's work out of the schoolbook class and makes it a guidebook that carries the Americans back nearly 2,000 years.

Books which describe the legends centering about the Rhine are also popular, especially with the soldiers who are musically inclined and attend the Wagnerian performances given by the various German grand opera companies which play in Cologne, Coblenz, Wiesbaden and other cities near the Rhine frequented by soldiers on leave.

All-story magazines which specialize in adventures are more popular with the American soldiers than any other periodicals and the American Library association has been unable to supply the demand for publications of this sort.

With the assistance of the Young Men's Christian association, which is in the distribution of reading material in the American area, Miss Ala Weyth, who is in charge of the American Library association's reading rooms, has been able to make a general poll of the reading taste of the army and finds that foreign residence has not won the young American away from fiction laid in America, particularly in the west.

The American Library association has about 20,000 books available for Americans, French, Belgians and English residents of the occupied area and has also distributed many books by mail to the American forces in other parts of Germany. Three hundred copies of 36 American weekly and monthly publications, in addition to a large number of newspapers, have been distributed through the branch libraries at Andernach and Mayen, as well as through the American Base hospital and the main library at Coblenz.

With the beginning of 1921, the American Library association turned its books over to the Y. M. C. A. and is no longer supporting the work. The main library at Coblenz was formerly a German officers' club and is ideally suited to library purposes. It has a great hall which makes an excellent reading room and also has sun parlors and large drawing rooms with many windows. Many Germans have asked for the privilege of using the library, but this has been denied as the army did not think it advisable to let a German read the books he had lived many years in America and should really be allowed to have books because he was an American "in principle."

Eighth Ward: Jensen, Hinkley, Coles, Hoarse, McKay, F. Hinkley.

Girl Missionary Is Honored At Farewell

Ruth Tanner, daughter of Bishop and Mrs. N. A. Tanner, was the honored guest of Sunday school officers at the Eleventh ward hall Friday night. The affair was in the nature of a farewell to Miss Tanner who leaves this week on a mission for the L. D. S. church to California. She was presented with a parasol and a leather-bound diary.

It is reported that a new light, greatly superior to any previously known has been perfected in London.

"Inside Dope" on Paris Peace Treaty Will Appear Before Wilson's Book

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—President Wilson is having collected and arranged for reference all papers and documents in his possession relating to the Paris peace conference with a view to the preparation of a book.

In making these preparations, it was learned, he has accepted the volunteered services of R. S. Baker, who was attached to the American peace commission. Mr. Baker for two weeks has spent several hours each day at the White House putting into shape all available data.

ASK WILSON'S SIDE.
It is understood that the president intends to begin real work on the book shortly after his retirement. It is known Mr. Baker has only undertaken the task of arranging the material.

Friends of the president are understood to have urged on him for some time the desirability of recording from the viewpoint of an official American participant important events of the peace negotiations. They have pointed out that one who played such a major role as he, and whose decisions later become the subject of such violent controversy, could not afford to lose the opportunity of setting before the world the motives behind the many disputed decisions.

LANSING'S VOLUME.
One version of the events which took place at Paris from an official American viewpoint already is in course of publication.

Announcement was made several weeks ago that former Secretary of State Lansing, an American commissioner, had prepared a book which takes issue in several important chapters with decisions made by the president. This book is to be released March 5, the day after President Wilson retires.

HERO USES GAS MASK CAPTURING POLECAT

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 5.—Here's a fellow who deserves a medal from the Carnegie hero commission.

He is an employee of the Early & Daniel company, grain dealers, here. Fellow employees opened a freight car door, preparatory to removing a cargo of oats. They lost no time re-carrying the latter part of the carload of grain.

One of the employees donned a gas mask and plunged into the oats, that gave a red tinge to the salty air inside, he peered out into the fresh atmosphere, his arms clasping a very disgruntled polecat.

Modesty shrouded the hero's name from publicity.

INVENTOR OF SUBMARINE DETECTOR GIVEN MEDAL
NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Dr. Willis R. Whitney, of Schenectady, N. Y., inventor of a detector for giving warning of the approach of submarines, has been awarded the Perkin gold medal, one of the highest honors in science, in recognition of his many inventions through which he had applied chemistry to the service of mankind. The medal is given for the highest achievements in applied science and is named for Sir William Perkin, a distinguished chemist and discoverer of the first processes for the manufacture of aniline dyes from the submarine detector, put into practical application during the European war at the suggestion of the United States Navy. Dr. Whitney was in command of the naval board, he also did much for the development of radio telegraph while with Germany was in command of the navy of the General Electric company. Dr. Whitney, who was born in Schenectady, N. Y., is a graduate of the American Chemical society and was president in 1929.
